COMMUNITY COLLEGE

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR POSITION PROFILE

Garden City Community College, located in Garden City, KS, invites applications from dynamic, inspiring, and successful leaders for the position of Athletic Director.

Summary

The Athletic Director is responsible for leadership and management of all aspects of the Athletic Department and serves as a campus leader to strengthen collaborations with academics, advancement, and student life. The Athletic Director is the official representative of GCCC Athletics both internally and externally. Athletics plays a critical role in the institution's enrollment strategy and actively participates in enrollment goal setting, student engagement, and oversight of the recruitment of student athletes. The Athletic Department is also uniquely positioned to connect with a diverse set of constituents with this role serving as a promoter of the Athletic Department and GCCC through a comprehensive approach to public relations and by being visible in the greater community.

Broncbuster Athletics

GCCC athletics play an integral role in the recruitment, retention and development of student athletes. GCCC believes that athletics help with student development, character development and community engagement. The official website for GCCC athletics is www.gobroncbusters.com where you can find updated information on each program, staff, schedules and the Broncbuster Athletic Association. The Athletic Director serves as the Ex-Officio member of the Broncbuster Athletic Association which is the fundraising and community support arm of GCCC athletics.

Broncbuster Sports Medicine

The Garden City Community College Sports Medicine staff consists of three licensed athletic trainers who are dedicated to the health and well-being of the student-athletes. The staff utilizes best practices that are supported by current evidence and follow guidelines of care that are detailed by the National Athletic Training Association and other governing bodies. The goal of the staff is to support student-athletes by managing/treating their athletic injuries and encouraging lifetime wellness as they embark on their journey towards athletic and academic success.

Sports Medicine Internship Program

The Garden City Community College Sports Medicine Department offers a unique internship opportunity for full-time students interested in a career as an athletic trainer (or other healthcare profession). The hands-on student internship program is designed to advance the profession and encourage GCCC students to pursue careers in athletic training, physical therapy, orthopedics, and other healthcare professions. Interns have the opportunity to gain work experience, provide athletic training services to our fifteen competitive athletic teams, earn an Athletic Training scholarship while attending GCCC, and receive guidance from our certified athletic trainers on transferring to an undergraduate/master's athletic training education program.

Sports Medicine Facilities

Garden City Community College boasts two state-of-the-art athletic training facilities on campus. The primary facility is in the northeast corner of the Dennis Perryman Athletic Complex and the Garden City football team has their own facility attached to their newly renovated locker room at Broncbuster Stadium. Both locations were remodeled in the Summer 2020 as part of a grant-project sponsored by the Sunderland Foundation and GCCC Endowment Association.
